Have you ever wondered how to get started in real estate investing to both buy rentals, buy low, rehab and sell high? We'll today is your lucky day! Lin He is a full time real estate investor who successfully buys the ugliest home in a neighborhood, completely remodels it, improves the neighborhood by converting the ugliest duckling into an absolute beauty and then sells it for a pretty profit.

BUT, that wasn't always the case. Up until four years ago, Lin was an IT software professional.

Join us and learn from our guest. During this interview he will share how he made the transition and is now living his dream of being a successful real estate investor.

You'll want to make sure you mark your calendar now and if you know of someone interested in this information be sure to forward it to them. They will thank you!
